THE SAGA OF THE GALAXIBIRDS

Millions of years ago, long before time began, God created the Galaxibirds in their many different guises. The Galaxibirds had no home and wandered through space looking for somewhere they could call their own. For years they wandered aimlessly, until eventually God got bored and decided to create a whole new universe, and ever since that day the Galaxibirds have been trying to find a planet they could call their own (again).

After spending several millenia of time on inhospitable planets the Galaxibirds headed for Earth, determined to wipe out mankind and settle on Earth for time and all eternity.

So far they have wiped out everyone they could find on Earth with their deadly phsyic chemistry. But you were clever and hid under the table to escape their evil. But now you are the only human left (except for a few chartered surveyors in Milton Keynes) so you must put on a brave face, kill the Galaxibirds and save the world (again).
